

Do you need to sell your home? The Carlyle understands that existing home-owners have a challenge apartment-dwellers don't. When considering purchasing a new home, that challenge is selling your existing home. At The Carlyle, this is not a problem.

Come to The Carlyle and find the floor plan that you love. Tell our Director of Sales that you need to sell your home. In your purchase contract will be placed a provision that holds your home at The Carlyle for an agreed period of time to allow you to comfortably sell your home.

Upon the sale of your home, you will be asked to give us written notice; shortly thereafter, you'll be asked to close on your new home at The Carlyle.

The benefits of this of this program are many, primary of which, the purchase price is not subject to increases while you sell your home. In addition, since you've already identified your new home, you can avoid all of the heartache and angst associated with trying to locate your new Carlyle home, once you get your existing home under contract.

This is just another way that we, at The Carlyle, make downtown home-buying easy.
